Internet & Wi-Fi

Our goal is to enhance user experience on the Free Public Wi-Fi, so we have recently upgraded the PBCCC Wi-Fi network and continue to make improvements to better serve all of our guests.

Service Set Identifiers

An SSID (service set identifier) is the primary name associated with a wireless local area network for home networks and public hotspots. For devices in the same WLAN (wireless local area network) to communicate with each other, the same SSID must be used for each device. In advance of your event, SSIDs can be set up as a request to allow a designated network for attendees to connect. Fees apply.

- We are able to support several thousand users easily on a dedicated SSID.
- An SSID allows connection of wireless and/or wired devices; For example: Point-of-Sale systems, network wireless printers, iPads, etc.
- We have used SSIDs to stream local and national televised sports events, connected clients to outside servers in their corporate offices, connected digital displays, and supported numerous devices and configurations.
